

THE POCHE WEEKLY RECORD.

SATURDAY.....MARCH 3, 1877

The news coming from London denies the elopement of Patti, the great prima donna, and says her final quarrel with her husband occurred in an opera box at St. Petersburg; that Patti immediately went to the Palace and obtained an audience with the Emperor, and an order to send Marquis Goux promptly out of the country. Reaching Paris, the Marquis was summoned to answer in legal proceedings instituted at Patti's telegraphic orders, for legal separation. It is said she offers him one hundred thousand francs for a peaceable separation, which he declines unless terms can be adjusted. On the following evening, at the Opera, when Patti made her appearance, the ladies in the audience manifested their displeasure at the prima donna's conduct in sending the Marquis into banishment. The ladies occupying boxes, in many instances, went so far as to draw the curtains in two boxes in the first tier in full view of the stage, and ladies went into the corridor while Patti sang.

Advices from the City of Mexico bearing date of the 16th ult., says pending the counting of the vote in the Presidential election, which has just taken place in that Republic, General Diaz has been sworn in President ad interim. The ceremony, which took place in the National Palace, was attended with marked pomp beyond that which is usually witnessed there. The Presidential Electors for Diaz have been chosen, and so far as is known he has received an immense majority of votes all over the country. Don Jose Natal, who before 1863 was Mexican Minister in Washington, has been appointed Secretary of the Treasury.

The editor of the Beaver Enterprise who has been fed on patent pills for the past six months, writes the following physiotherapy item: "Democrats may stop their song about running the U. S. If a majority of a quarter of a million of the popular vote, and eleven electoral votes can not put their man in now, they may give up the future. Morton, Garfield & Co. are going to run this country." The proprietor of that paper had better put a pane of blue glass in his editor's hat and try to develop some brains for that long-eared bird.

Eph Holland, who was arrested for illegal voting, in his statement, published at Cincinnati on the 17th ult., said he had a man from Chicago, named Burns, with a gang of twelve men, and a man named Fairchild, from Pittsburgh, with eight men, and Mike Glendon, from New York, with eighteen men, who cast in all about 500 votes. He received $1,000 from the Democratic committee, and was promised more from individual politicians, who failed to give him the money.

The miners are on a strike at Smartsville, Yuba county, California. The miners of that district have been receiving two and a half dollars per day and have struck for three dollars, which the mine-owners refuse to pay. According to the latest accounts from there the miners have formed an association and will not permit any person to work at miners' work for less than three dollars per day.

On the 19th ult., the wife of Peter Jorgensen, of Logan, Cache county, gave birth to three sons, weighing respectively 5 1/2 lbs., 5 1/2 lbs., 5 1/2 lbs., total 16 1/2 lbs. The babies and mother are said to be doing well.—[Beaver Enterprise.]

If Samuel T. Curtis had only gone out into Utah and taken up himself a Mormon girl for a wife, what a happy man he might have been.

Donn Platt is again indulging in his wild ravings in the "Capital," but he takes pains to state that while he may indicate violence he does not refer to assassination. We presume "General" Watterson will appoint Platt to the position of Chief of Staff of his Kentucky Brigade.

LUCKY FRIDAY.—Who says Friday isn't a lucky day? Hayes was nominated on Friday, gained the Florida case on Friday, February 9th, and won the Louisiana case on Friday.

The officers' quarters at Sitka, Alaska, have been destroyed by fire. The officers lost all their effects and narrowly escaped with their lives.

The Indians in the Black Hills are daily committing depredations near Deadwood—killing men and driving off stock.

It is rumored that Rutherford B. left his home yesterday in Columbus, Ohio, for Washington City.

Silver closed in London on the 26th ult. at 55 pence.

At Cork, Ireland, on the 25th ult., the remains of the late John O'Mahoney were taken from the Democratic Club's rooms and escorted to the Dublin railway station, the weather being fine and the popular demonstration a great success. The city was crowded with strangers; hundreds came in from the country districts, and a large delegation present from Mitchelstown, the birthplace of the deceased; thousands thronged the streets through which the funeral cortege passed. The procession was a mile long. The coffin was covered with the flag of the 99th New York regiment and American and Irish colors. Immediately after the hearse walked the relatives of the deceased, and the delegation from the United States were followed by the Democratic Club, of Cork, and the trade organizations, with banners draped. All in the procession were mourning with green favors. Several bands accompanied the societies.

The Springfield Union says: "The Democrats have gained a Senator and lost a President; the Republicans vice versa. It wasn't an even swap, and no wonder that the mention of Judge Davis' name elicits copious profanity in Democratic circles, and exceedingly unflattering allusions to the stupidity of the Illinois Democrats, who might have known that the Democrats in Congress would never have voted for the compromise if they hadn't expected that Davis would be the fifteenth man."

The Assistant Secretary of the San Francisco Stock Exchange, John R. Robb, has been discovered to be a defaulter to the amount of $3,000. The officers of the Board have heretofore reposed the fullest confidence in him, and are at a loss to account for his action, as he was not known to have been engaged in speculation or to lead a fast life. He had a sickly and expensive family on his hand, which is thought to have led him to the act.

The Louisville Courier-Journal condemns in strong terms all opposition to the decision of the tribunal, and says: "We are not prepared to denounce as infamous every man who voted against us, nor do we see any manifestation of good judgment in anyone doing so. There never was a Judge on any bench who rendered opinions on questions of State free from political bias."

The New York Times' San Francisco correspondent, Gassensky, better known to the public as "Gar," and who has been writing letters to the above mentioned paper and attacking the character of a number of prominent San Franciscans, was severely cabled by a gentleman of that city on the 24th ult.

On Monday, the 5th inst., upon the convening of the United States Court at Beaver, Utah, a day will be set for the execution of John D. Lee, of Mountain Meadows fame. Lee has given to the United States District Attorney a written statement divulging the dreadful story of the massacre.

"The sentence of the Court is," said Judge Porter, a popular Irish magistrate, to a notorious drunkard, "that you be confined in jail for the longest period the law will allow, and I hope that you will spend the time in cursing whisky." "Be jabbers I will, and Porter, too," was the answer.

Eastern men of learning are likely to believe that there is no civilization west of the Alleghenies. Once in a while a man like Kasson, of Iowa, and Stanley Matthews, of Ohio, rises and tells Harvard College that Charles Francis Adams is no the only man in the world.

Sarah Winnemucca, the Piute Princess, was married the other day to an Indian buck named "Bob," at Canyon City, near Fort McDermitt, the Justice of the Peace of that place officiating. Sarah was divorced from Lieutenant Bartlett.

Pineback, the ex-convict, and at present the pet of the Democratic party at New Orleans, is in Washington, and says everything is now quiet in that section, and that the Nichols government is fully able to maintain itself.

It is rumored that a four mile and repeat race is to be put up at San Francisco, to come off some time in May, for a purse of $20,000, but under whose auspices has not yet been ascertained.

A special session of the United States Senate will be convened on the 5th of March.

Blue glass has become so popular in Washington that Matt Carpenter has a pane in his stomach.

Gloves with twenty-five buttons are worn for ball tolets in London.

Senator Sharon is said to be a good entertainer.

Liquor drank out of a blue glass tumbler will not have any intoxicating effect on the consumer. Some few parties not living over a million miles from Piche would do well to always drink their cocktails out of a blue glass tumbler.

The bill compelling the use of safety cages in shafts over three hundred feet passed the Nevada Senate on the 26th ult. The bill for the incorporation of the town of Eureka also passed the Senate during the night session.

The Legislature of the State of Nevada adjourned at 12 o'clock on the night of March 1, 1877, the 60 days, their legal term, having expired at that time.

Cronin imagines he has rheumatism in the end of his nose, and wears a piece of blue glass stuck on the end of that organ with mucilage.

President Grant and family will, after to-day, be the guests of Secretary Fish until April, when they will visit Galena.

Prince Leopold will be twenty-four next April, and the House of Lords is trying to hunt up a new title for him.

The annual death rate in London averages 18 per 1,000; in Edinburgh, 12; in Glasgow, 21; in Dublin, 19.

LETTER FROM THE BLACK HILLS.

[From the Gold Hill News.] Under date of Deadwood City, February 6th, D. Moore, a well-known former resident, writes to a friend in Gold Hill. Among other things he says: I told you at the time I left Gold Hill not to expect to hear from me very soon, as I wished to learn all I could of this section before writing, so as to be able to advise you with some accuracy what to do. Snow commenced falling early in November, and for two months it continued to come. The Winter has been unusually severe, and has prevented me from looking around as much as I would have liked. However, I have not been idle, but have made it a point to form the acquaintance of miners wintering here who have interests in other localities, and to get all the information I could of mining affairs generally. During my first week at this place, I set the Black Hills down as

AN UNQUALIFIED FRAUD, But since then I have learned how the claims are worked and the quantity of gold produced; have taken a look at the quartz lodes, and getting the lay of the country better. I am forced to confess that I believe the chances are pretty good here after all, and I prefer it to working for wages at Gold Hill. There has been but little prospecting done as yet. You know how bad the Indians were last Summer. With all the disadvantages and danger the miners labored under then, they tested about a dozen creeks with flattering results. Some of them are exceedingly rich, and all of them showed gold in paying quantities. These creeks are scattered over a country more than one hundred miles in extent, and vary from fifteen to fifty miles in length. I don't pretend to say that they will pay from their head to their mouth, for I never have been on them. In fact, no man has, up to the present time, been but a few miles above and below where gold was first discovered. But we will take Deadwood for an example. This gulch must be nearly thirty miles long, and I do know that fifteen miles of it has turned out

AN IMMENSE QUANTITY OF GOLD, And it is not half worked yet. Suppose the others to be equally as good (and some they are a great deal better), would you not conclude that the chances here were better than working for four dollars a day? The whole surface of the Black Hills is covered with float quartz, and there are any quantity of ledges about here that assay away up, both in gold and silver, and I believe there will be more quartz mining done in these hills than in any other section I ever saw or heard of. I am glad to be here. It costs only about four dollars per week to live, and so far, though I reached here dead broke, I have not been hungry. I am not going to say come on. I wish you to judge for yourself. Think of the sixteen years you have spent on the Comstock, and figure up how much you are worth, and also how much more you can add to it if you should remain there sixteen years longer. Think of the good grub you are daily flopping your lips over—take a good square look at the nice, comfortable bed upon which you nightly rest your wearied limbs—remember the girl you will have to leave behind you—in fact, keep in mind everything that makes life pleasant, and then consider if it is best to give all these things up and take your chance in a thousand of being a success here.

OLD SITTING BELL Is still boss of this country, and many a poor devil will lose his scalp next Summer. Uncle Sam seems to like his red children a great deal better than he does his white ones. If you conclude to come start as soon as possible. The weather for the last week has been warm and pleasant. The snow is fast disappearing from the south side of the hills, and an early Spring is predicted. Come as cheap as you can. A little money after you arrive here will be very useful, as there is no "shooting your mouth off" here. I have a cabin rented and paid for until the first of June. Plenty of room in it but not much grub. Give my respects to everybody and particularly to those I owe, and say that I shall try and get back again before they all die, as that is the only place I have now to call home. Yours, truly, A. D. MOORE.

Widow Sarah Wheeler, a native of Toronto, Canada, died at St. Louis the other day, at the age of 109. Now let's hear from Chicago.

THE MINES OF HARRISBURG DISTRICT.

[From the Silver Reef Daily Echo.]

The Walker & Barbee is located on the White Reef, just west of town, and has an incline down 150 feet, on a vein of seven or eight feet in width, which pitches to the north at an angle of about 40 degrees from the horizon. They have about 200 tons of ore on their dump, and shipped some formerly which gave a result of $160 per ton. A shaft has been sunk on the northwest side of the reef to a depth of 102 feet for the purpose of cutting the vein. A whim is used for hoisting which cost $500, and four men are regularly employed on the day shift. This is one of the best developed claims in the district, and we will have occasion to speak of it more fully in future issues.

The Luna, next east from the Walker & Barbee, and apparently at the head of the White Reef, has an incline down 50 feet, with a pretty regular vein of about two feet.

The Pinkham & Dodge is the first claim south of the Barbee, and embraces 1,500 feet of ground, and have four men working. They have an incline now 36 feet deep, and are running to tap their main ore body, which is supposed to be but ten or twelve feet deeper.

The Honest Miner is next on the reef, and was located February 24, 1876, by J. S. and F. P. Fullmer, Henry Darrow, James Wright, William Dalton and A. B. Stephenson, and embraces 700 feet in length, running across the reef in the shape of an L. Their shaft is now down 16 feet, and it will require about 20 more to cut the main lode. Ore samples shipped some time since from the workings milled over $100.

The Bonanza is owned by B. H. Paddock and J. M. Coschina, who claim 1,500 feet along the main reef, which was re-located May 3, 1875. A shaft is down 78 feet, passing through a vein five feet in thickness, and is being rapidly run to the main lode. A tunnel is run in the main lead about 30 feet, showing eleven feet of ore. Ore averages about $83 per ton. Mine opened in several places on the surface and a force of five men is working.

The California shaft, southwest from the Leeds Company's ground, and owned by D. Murphy, J. Hanley and A. McMath, was located December 2, 1876. Their shaft is down 90 feet and cuts three ledges, the bottom one being five feet.

The Scott shaft, claiming 1,500 feet of ground, is down 70 feet, with a vein six feet in width and a dump of 30 tons of ore. It was located June 17, 1876, and is owned by Scott, Deady and Stewart. Ore from this shaft averages about $80, and a force of six men is employed.

The Leopard is the title of a claim situated on the main reef, above Scott's shaft, and was located in August or September, 1876. The owners, S. and S. J. Pollock, L. D. Strong and J. Kemple, have a shaft down about 25 feet, with a vein at the bottom uncovered, but are not yet through it. Two men are at work at present, but this force will soon be increased to four or five. Surface tests have assayed as high as $450.

The Rattler, owned by Scott, Deady, Stewart and Martin, was located July 20, 1876, and claims between 800 and 900 feet of ground. Fifty-three feet of shaft is already down, with a fair prospect of striking the main lode inside of 12 feet more.

The Infant, consisting of about 300 feet in length of surface ground, is a promising location made May 10, 1876, on the main reef, and is owned by Sinclair and McKivry. A large-sized vein is exposed and the ore is said to be high grade.

The Gisborn covers 1,500 feet of ground just below the Infant, where a vein of five or six feet, of fine looking mineral is exposed to view. Work is progressing on an incline, with fifteen or twenty tons of ore out.

The Hard Scrabble is a location in the flat, about a mile southwest of town, with a shaft down about 45 feet, connected at the bottom by a tunnel of 50 feet to drain it. A six-foot ledge has been tapped in the bottom. Located December 22, 1875, and is owned by A. Hartman, W. Lusk and Stewart.

Died. At Piche, Nevada, February 26, 1877, Wm. Lawry, a native of Cornwall, aged 30 years. At Silver Reef, Utah, Captain W. E. Gibson, a native of Maryland, aged 35 years.
